

Pacific Coastal Salmon Recovery Fund II Workshop

December 12 & 13, 2002
Doubletree Hotel SeaTac Airport

"An opportunity for dialogue between the States, Tribes, and NOAA Fisheries on the future of the Fund"

The Pacific Coastal Salmon Recovery Fund (PCSRF) II Workshop is hosted by NOAA Fisheries and facilitated by For the Sake of the Salmon. This second Workshop is being conducted at the request of the Tribal and State co-managers of the Fund who participated in the first Workshop held in Portland, Oregon in January 2002. NOAA Fisheries and the Fund's co-managers wish to engage in a two-day workshop to discuss PCSRF accomplishments and work towards a stronger set of PCSRF performance standards, better monitoring and evaluation protocols, and more uniform reporting approaches. PCSRF II will be open to the Fund's Tribal and State co-managers, other Tribes and state agencies, local governments, special districts, watershed groups and other organizations working on salmon recovery and involved with the PCSRF.
